ANGEL's Biennial International Conference 2023

#ANGELCONFERENCE2023

Global Education & Learning for a Just, Peaceful and Sustainable World

19/20 June 2023 UNESCO HQ: Paris, France

In partnership with

Cattedra UNESCO
in Educazione alla
Cittadinanza Globale

The date is set, the rooms are booked, and the themes are agreed - ANGEL is gearing up for its next conference that will bring together academics, researchers, policy-makers and practitioners with an interest in research on Global Education & Learning, Education for Sustainability, and Global Citizenship. The ANGEL Conference 2023 is the fourth biennial conference of the EU-funded ANGEL project, and is delivered this year in partnership with UNESCO.

Who is the conference for?

Conceived as a major, internationally focused gathering, the ANGEL Conference 2023 aims to bring together interested parties from all backgrounds for two exciting days of sessions showcasing and discussing research, projects, and new developments connected to Global Education and Learning or Global Citizenship Education, and other related fields such as Development Education, Human Rights Education, Education for Sustainable Development, Education for Peace, and Intercultural Education. This event, which is free to attend, will prioritise transversal activities that promote and enrich connections between researchers, policy-makers, and civil society organisations, especially those which capitalise on the rare opportunity to gather face-to-face.

Conference Goals

- Sharing outcomes on relevant and current research on Global Education & Learning, Global Citizenship Education and Education for Sustainability
- Showcasing the work of UNESCO in conceptualising and disseminating Global Education & Learning, Global Citizenship Education and Education for Sustainability
- Connecting researchers and international policy makers on Global Education and Learning
- Nurturing Early Career Researchers
- Facilitating relationships between researchers and Civil Society Organisations
- Exploration and analysis of UNESCO's Futures of Education initiative
- Exploration and analysis of the process of developing the new Global Education to 2050 declaration

A full conference report will be issued, as well as a number of journal articles, an edited book, and edited videos of all of the keynote presentations.

Event Structure & Topics

The Conference, to be held within UNESCO Headquarters in Paris, carries the title Global Education & Learning for a Just, Peaceful & Sustainable World, and will include a mixture of inspirational keynote presentations, academic papers and presentations from empirical research, debates on key issues and opportunities for meetings of specialist Journal boards, early career researchers, NGO practitioners and policymakers. A wealth of parallel sessions will cover themes that emerge amongst submitted proposals, e.g. school-based education, further and higher education, adult education and informal learning. All plenary sessions will include discussions on how to take forward the themes addressed by the speakers in developing and implementing policies, informing research, and helping to improve the quality of educational practice.

Timings: 9:30 on the 19th until 15:30 on the 20th June. A final agenda will be published here ASAP. Plenary sessions, which will be live-streamed, will be in a mix of English and French, with simultaneous interpretation provided both ways. Breakout sessions as a default will be in English, unless specific proposals are made that require other languages - attendees who are leading such sessions are welcome to arrange their own translation or interpretation services for this. See the call for proposals (http://angel-network.net/ANGEL_2023_Call) if you are interested in this.

Major event themes

- Global Citizenship Education for Social Justice
- Peace Education in a World of Conflict and Discord
- Global Education and Learning for a Sustainable World

Cross-cutting themes of the conference will include:

- Current challenges for Global Education and Learning and Global Citizenship Education
- Global Education and learning supporting the achievement of the SDGs
- Relationship to formal or further and higher education or informal forms of learning
- Articulations between Global Citizenship Education and Education for Sustainability

- Global education and learning and reimagining the futures of education

Call for submissions

We are calling for submission of proposals for a wide range of sessions, including paper presentation sessions, symposia, workshops and other special sessions across the two days. We are particularly keen to hear proposals for sessions that would maximise the potential of a face-to-face meeting, and ones that provide bridging points between the academic community and policy and practitioner networks. Your proposal must be submitted by the end of 19 February 2023. You can find out more about this, and apply, via the button below.

Call for submissions (http://angel-network.net/ANGEL_2023_Call)

Who are the organisers?

The event is organised by the Academic Network of Global Education and Learning (ANGEL) in partnership with UNESCO, with the cooperation of Global Education Network Europe (GENE), IOE, UCL's Faculty of Education & Society, and the UNESCO Chair in GCED in Higher Education, based at the University of Bologna. This event, along with the other activities of the ANGEL network, are co-funded by the European Union.*

Partnership with UNESCO

Reflecting on this success, ANGEL will this time be partnering with UNESCO to deliver its 2023 conference. As the leading international organisation promoting debates and research around education for sustainable development and global citizenship, UNESCO offers a perfect forum for this event.

Coming to the conference

We estimate 200/250 participants from all over the world, but especially from Europe. In line with UNESCO's policies, the conference will be free. If funding can be agreed, some financial support may be provided to encourage participation of early career researchers and scholars from Low GDP countries - this will be confirmed via ANGEL channels ASAP. We strongly encourage prospective attendees to seek financial support from their institution to help support their attendance at this important event.

Booking will open in the New Year, and considering that there is no fee, we expect tickets to be taken quickly. In the meantime, you can express interest here to receive advance warning of when tickets will be launched.

Background

This will be the 4th international conference on Global Education and Learning organised by ANGEL. The first three editions (2017, 2019, 2021) were organized by the Development Education Research Centre (DERC) within IOE, with the support of GENE, and were all held in London, apart from the 2021 event which was held online. A further major event, focused primarily on Early Career Researchers, was held in 2020, and hosted by the University of Oulu.

ANGEL is a EU co-funded network established in 2017 through close cooperation between GENE and DERC. Building upon foundational collaborations between these organisations and the University of Bamberg in Germany, the University of Oulu in Finland, and the University of Bologna in Italy, the project has grown steadily to incorporate many more partners. The project arose in response to the need to establish and reinforce existing relationships among scholars (particularly early career stage researchers) and academic institutions working in global education and related areas, and to link and interface this community with interested policymakers and practitioners.

The network has grown quickly, with more than 870 members in 85 different countries as of late 2022. As well as the aforementioned conferences, the network has produced a number of publications, and runs a webinar series. For more details, please visit our website www.angel-network.net (<http://www.angel-network.net>).

MEMBER DIRECTORY

Looking for an expert in any aspect of Global Learning?

Use our member directory tools to find specialists in one of more than 65 countries. Search for an individual by name, or by one of the 11 sub-categories of research topic.

The ANGEL network is the most comprehensive network of Global Learning professionals, and our directory serves as a great resource for those looking for consultants, speakers or partners for potential collaboration.

Register for free (</civicrm/profile/create?gid=18&reset=1>) on our website, or become a member (</membership>), to access contact details. If you are looking for further details, please contact the ANGEL project team (</contact>).

Directory search fields use the AND Boolean search operator, meaning if you select e.g. 'Australia' and also 'Peace education', you will see only members who are both based in Australia, and also who have expertise in Peace Education.
